ONE MORE DAY
If I could have just one more day with you...
I would hardly speak. I would simply listen to your voice and commit every tone of it to memory until it became my favourite melody.
I would look at you. I would study your eyes and your mouth, and I would learn every angle, every pane of your face until I could see you perfectly with my eyes closed.
I would hold your hand in mine. I would trace all the lines on your palm until they became a trail - a map - that I could retrace on my own palm every time I felt lost.
I would soak you up and breathe you in until there was not a single thing that I could not recall at a moment's notice.
But more than anything, if I had one more day with you, I would hold you.
I would hold you so tight, hoping that maybe if I didn't let you go...
You wouldn't.
Yes, if I had just one more day with you, I would hope... I would hope sc hard..
that you wouldn't have to leave again.

So wird manch einer jetzt denken, fühlen und handeln.

Ich gehe die Wege,
die wir gemeinsam gegangen sind.
Ich sitze auf der Bank,
auf der wir gemeinsam saßen.
Dein Tod macht mich einsam.
Und doch sind unsere Gemeinsamkeiten mein Trost.
